Five things to consider before renovating your kitchen.

1. Budget

The general rule is to invest no more than 10% of your home's value. Be honest with what you can afford, and stick to a budget.

2. Lifestyle

Are more cabinets and storage important to you, or are you looking for an open floor plan for entertaining? Consider your present lifestyle as well as future needs.

3. Preparation

Measurements, design plans, color schemes, materials, light fixtures, appliances, etc. All vitally important details to ensure your vision comes to fruition.

4. Timeframe

Renovating a kitchen is generally more than a Saturday afternoon project, and it's not as simple as what you see on TV. JSI Cabinetry will help keep your timeframe on track with faster delivery than traditional manufacturers.

5. Appliances

Perhaps the second most important investment outside of the renovation itself. If you've got the most elegant countertops, cabinets, and backsplash, you'll need the best appliances you can afford within your budget to make your kitchen shine.
